

Murder suspect found in east N.O.

Thursday, July 10, 2008

From staff reports

<http://www.nola.com:80/news/t-p/metro/index.ssf?/base/news-29/1215668402145860.xml&coll=1>

A Crimestoppers tip led to the arrest of a 24-year-old murder suspect Wednesday in eastern New Orleans, police said.

Ausbia Taylor was arrested Wednesday in a June 5 shooting death in the Lower Coliseum Square neighborhood, police said.

Seventh District police located Taylor, who was wanted on a second-degree murder warrant, at the intersection of Chef Menteur Highway and Michoud Boulevard about 4 p.m., police spokeswoman Officer Jonette Williams said. He was taken into custody without incident, Williams said.

Taylor is accused of shooting Jon Jordan to death in the 1600 block of Constance Street, Williams said. She could not identify the victim.